Seven More Held In Weiner Killing; Loot Angle Probed

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Seven more persons have been held in a total of $210,000 bail as material witnesses in the slaying of Benjamin Weiner, a district attorney's man, in a dispute over the loot of a New Jersey truck robbery.

A spokesman for District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said last night that investigators believe Weiner, 43, was shot to death Jan. 13 in his apartment, at 88 East First street, because he refused to turn over $6,000 as a companion's share in the loot.

Sixty detectives, exclusively assigned to the case, continued search for other persons, including a man described as "vitaly important." This man was said to be armed and "trigger-happy" and to have vowed he never would be taken alive.

The district attorney's spokesman theorized that Weiner and two other men held up a truck driver and stole his consignment of merchandise on Route 1 in New Jersey. He gave no particulars on the robbery.

There are indications, it was disclosed last night, that Weiner's effects were rifled as he lay dying and that a large amount of money was taken.

The district attorney's office did not reveal where the new material witnesses—two women and five men—are being held.

The witnesses, picked up during the week-end, were listed as:

Jack Bretagna, 33, of 64 Mid-dleton street, Brooklyn.

Willie Rosenberg, 42, of 164 Havermyer street, Brooklyn.

Bernard Affronti, 27, of 86 Lynch street, Brooklyn.

Anthony Loguercio, 17, of 260 Heyward street, Brooklyn.

Arthur Troiano, 17, of 94 Heyward street, Brooklyn.

Josephine Kennedy, 21, of 103 East 29th street, Manhattan.

Mildred Fradin, 23, of 136 Thompson street, Manhattan.

The lead to the seven witnesses, the district attorney's office said, resulted from an arrest made Friday in Brooklyn in connection with a different crime.

Weiner, a former convict, was slain while sitting home with his six-month-old son, Louis. A bullet narrowly missed the child in his crib.

Cardinal College Dean Dies at 96

Cardinal di Belmonte Was Second Only to Pope

Vatican City, Feb. 16 (AP)—Genaro Cardinal Granito Pignatelli di Belmonte, 96, second only to Pope Pius XII in the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church, died today of a bladder ailment complicated by old age.

Cardinal Pignatelli, who was a prince of the Italian aristocracy as well as a prince of the church, expired at 10:13 a. m. (13:13 m. E.S.T.) in his simply furnished apartment in the historic Vatican Church of Santa Martha.

He had known five Popes in his long life and had been an intimate of the present pontiff and his predecessor. He had been dean of the College of Cardinals for nearly 18 years.

Cardinal Pignatelli, Bishop of Albano and Ostia, was in charge of arranging all pontifical ceremonies as perfect of the congregation of ceremonies.

Somberly robed officials of the church stood quietly in the darkened room, lit only by tall tapers, as he breathed his last.

Pope Pius visited him last Saturday and gave him the blessing and a message of sympathy. Extreme Unction also was administered Saturday. He fell into a coma last night.

The prelate, as Prince of Belmonte, was a member of the Italian aristocracy. As Count of Capertino he held a place in the society of his native Naples before many of his brother Cardinals were born.

Sixteen others were arrested yesterday at a copper mine at Chiquicamata, the ministry said.

Kaiser-Frazer Has Suit Against Bank On Stock Charge

Corporation Tells State
It Will File Because of Withdrawal of Issues

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Kaiser-Frazer Corporation is preparing a $7,762,500 suit in the State Supreme Court here against Otis & Co., Cleveland banking firm, in connection with the withdrawal of a stock offering.

Notice of intention to file the suit perhaps today—was served Saturday on the secretary of state at Albany as legal agent for all firms licensed to do business within the state.

Otis and the First California Company of San Francisco were joint managers of a syndicate which offered 900,000 shares of new Kaiser-Frazer common stock Feb. 4, but later withdrew the offering after it had been sold.

The underwriters did not exercise an option for an additional 600,000 shares. The 1,500,000-share issue was planned to net the automobile firm $17,220,625 and permit it to increase production from 1,000 cars a day to 1,500.

Papers filed with the secretary of state said Kaiser-Frazer would allege that the Otis firm:

1. "Without justification or excuse repudiated" a contract to buy 337,500 shares of Kaiser-Frazer common for $3,881,250.

2. "Maliciously induced" First California to cancel a contract for the same amount.

3. "Inspired" a Kaiser-Frazer stockholder to halt the issue of 1,500,000 shares of new stock.

State Aid Sums To Be Discussed At Capital Parley

using this as grounds to terminate the contracts.

The auto firm further contends that after "repudiation" of the agreements Feb. 9, the stock "could not be readily resold for a reasonable price."

No Reference to Allen
The notice made no reference to Allen and Company of New York, which was to have handled 225,000 shares of the 900,000. An Otis spokesman said last night that his company had been willing at all times to carry out its part of the deal.

Otis will have until March 5 to answer the complaint. No officials of the firm in Cleveland or New York had immediate comment. At the time of the withdrawal of the offering an Otis spokesman said briefly, "The whole deal is off."

The offering was withdrawn as James F. Masterson of Philadelphia filed in Circuit Court at Detroit an action to restrain Kaiser-Frazer from proceeding with the stock issue. Acting as a stockholder, he contended the auto firm by a previous sale of common stock had "impaired its supply of liquid capital and created widespread insecurity and uncertainty among its own stockholders and prospective purchasers of the corporation's products."

Otis and First California then notified dealers they had withdrawn the offering at $13 a share. The Feb. 3 agreements called for payment of $11.50 a share to Kaiser-Frazer. The underwriters said dealers' funds on deposit in Cleveland had been returned and the purchase contract "has been terminated."

February 3 Stipulation
The Feb. 3 agreements stipulated that the underwriters would go ahead with the stock transaction provided "no lawsuits are pending to the knowledge of the company threaten against the company."

Closing time for the agreements was 10 a. m. (E.S.T.) Feb. 9, a Securities and Exchange Commission official said. Masterson's counsel, David V. Martin of Detroit, said he filed the action at 9:20 a. m. (E.S.T.) that day.

Dew Jones, a Financial News Service, said Saturday that Masterson was a former counsel of Otis & Company. Masterson was quoted as saying he brought the action "with no outside influence whatsoever."

The S.E.C. had approved the stock offering, once postponed. It announced Wednesday. It was investigating the withdrawal but said there was no indication of any law violation or harm to the public.

Wallace Addresses Meeting in Bronx

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, facing a test of strength at a special congressional election in the Bronx tomorrow, says "the Democratic high command in Washington is scared to death" over his presidential candidacy.

Wallace told an American Labor Party rally yesterday that fear in Washington led to Mayor William O'Dwyer's recent appeal to him to abandon his third party candidacy for the White House and return to the Democratic Party.

Wallace spurned the suggestion in a speech urging the election of former State Assemblyman Leo Isaacson, American Labor Party candidate for Congress at tomorrow's election in the 24th District. The A.L.P., a New York state party only, is supporting Wallace for president.

O'Dwyer and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt last Thursday urged election of Karl Propper, the Democratic candidate.

The voting in the normally Democratic district will be a test of the strength of the American Labor Party as well as that of Wallace.

Propper has the backing of Truman supporters. In the race of Isaacson and Propper are Joseph A. De Nigris, Republican, and Dean Alfarage, candidate of the Liberal Party.

The special Congress election is being held to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Benjamin J. Rabin to become a State Supreme Court justice.

Moore Committee Reported in Favor of Easing New York City Burden

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 16 (AP)—The Republican family war over the amount by which state aid for schools should be increased will be fought out behind closed doors tomorrow.

Speaker Oswald D. Heck will preside at the party conference of the Assembly's 107 G.O.P. members, called at the request of an insurgent bloc seeking passage of the Young-Milmoor bill.

This measure would increase state aid by $103,000,000 a year, whereas Governor Dewey's administration proposes to limit the rise to $56,000,000.

Assemblyman Harry A. Reoux of Warrensburg, leader of the bolting bloc, said 62 Republican members of the Assembly had signed the petition asking for the conference.

It is not known how many of the 62 favor the Young-Milmoor bill or how many will support it if it reaches the Assembly floor for a vote. Some of the 62 are die-hard "regulars"—never varying supporters of the Dewey administration on its major measures. Others favor a compromise between $103,000,000 and $56,000,000.

Reoux declined to predict the outcome of the scrap. "I'm leaving the predictions to the leaders," he said. "Some of their predictions have been very amusing to me."

He referred apparently to private forecast by G.O.P. legislative chiefs that the administration program would prevail in the end. The Assembly Democrats, numbering 41, are backing the Young-Milmoor bill, whose authors are Republicans. They are Senator Fred A. Young of Lowville and Assemblyman Wheeler Milmoor of Canastota.

The Assembly Ways and Means Committee will report out Dewey's record high $799,600,000 budget Wednesday and the larger house will vote on it next week.

Included in Budget.
An appropriation for part of the $56,000,000 boost in aid to education is included in the budget. The remainder—$41,000,000—will be incorporated in the 1949-50 budget.

At Ithaca last night, Republican Assemblyman Stanley Shaw of Tompkins county said in a radio address Governor Dewey "refuses adequate aid . . . for schools."

Shaw said passage of the Young-Milmoor bill was essential if "we are to maintain present standards of education."

The Ways and Means Committee is expected to propose an amendment to the 1948-49 budget to provide the extra money needed to double the salary of the legislators from $2,500 to $5,000. The Senate has approved the increase and the Assembly is expected to do likewise.

Meanwhile unofficial reports were heard that State Comptroller Frank C. Moore's Special Committee on State-Municipal Fiscal Relations was inclined toward easing New York city's financial headaches.

DEADLOCKED ELECTIONS

If a bloc of southern states should succeed in preventing choice of a President this year by the electoral college, as some spokesmen threaten to do, they will bring about a situation which last occurred in 1824. The threat is to attempt to throw the election of the President into the House of Representatives. This happens if no candidate receives a majority in the electoral college, or if there is a tie.

Twice in the nation's history the House has chosen the President. In the election of 1800 Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr won 73 votes each in the electoral college. The Federalists saw an opportunity to block the choice of either Jefferson or Burr and force the House to appoint a Federalist as temporary President, but after a cloakroom wrangle the idea was abandoned and Jefferson, who received the highest popular vote, was chosen. In 1824 there were four candidates, and none received a majority of electoral votes. Henry Clay, who trailed in the voting and was out of the race, threw his support to John Quincy Adams, who had received a smaller vote than Andrew Jackson, and the House quickly elected Adams.

The election of 1876 was contested but did not go to the House because a special electoral commission appointed by Congress decided votes of four disputed states in such a way that Rutherford B. Hayes received a majority of electoral votes and a margin of one over Samuel Tilden, who polled about 250,000 more popular votes than Hayes.

When a Presidential election goes to the House each state has only one vote in the choice. The vote of each state is decided by a ballot within its delegation.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Washington's Birthday came near being a day celebrated by all European lovers of freedom. On that day 100 years ago riots in Paris opened the Revolution of 1848, which sent reactionary rulers scurrying and for a time bade fair to establish democratic government everywhere. King Louis Philippe of France was forced to give way to a republic. Metternich, the Austrian chief minister for 48 years and the personification of reaction, fled ignominiously. The separate states of Austria, Germany and Italy received constitutions in place of the old system of arbitrary rule. A new day seemed to be dawning.

Unfortunately the old-time tyrants were too strong. With the help of the Russian czar the revolution was put down almost everywhere. In France the republic was overthrown by its president, Prince Louis Napoleon, who became the emperor Napoleon III. The Revolution of 1848 effected some permanent reforms, but soon became only a memory.

It is memories, however, that are lasting, more than the material achievements of the day.

THE RUSH OF TIME

Few people accomplish as much as they plan. But how in the world can they? It's the sun's fault, really. It comes and it goes on too brief a cycle. It's a hard taskmaster that keeps not only man but all life stepping briskly.

Spring is pushed into place, the flowers and trees are pulled up short, ordered into the business of budding and growing. Winter will be commanded after a bit to appear, with ruthless blight of all this lovable endeavor. Daylight and darkness, season upon season make nature hustle under the sun's whip-lash. Human creatures, the beasts of field and fireside, birds on the wing, all rush to get a bit of living in between birth and death's finality.

So, if poor weak mortals are never quite caught up, why worry? Today will never be quite long enough.

'T'WAS EVER THUS

Lord Linlithgow, Chairman of the Midland Bank, the largest private bank in England, has this to say:

"The first step towards solving a problem is to see it clearly, to assess its magnitude and to visualize its implications, and here a marked advance can be recorded; for hardly anyone now dissents from the view that the post-war programme of reconstruction and improvement had outrun the nation's resources, human, material and financial. The seemingly almost miraculous achievements of war had led perhaps to over-optimism of the effort that could be sustained when the extremity of peril had been passed. Possibly, moreover, the assistance extended by the United States and Canada—essential to any plan of full economic recovery—had made the task appear less gigantic than in fact it was, having regard to the inroads made by the war upon our physical capacity for production and our external financial assets."

In a word, the planners planned too much. The professors and the experts set targets for themselves, targets which may or may not be realistic, targets which have not even a theoretical basis. They were mystical targets based on faith and hope, but preponderantly materialistic. They always look good in the blueprint stage, but when it came to balancing income and cost, the blueprints did not work.

It is not only war that interferes with roseate plans. It is everything: too much rain, too little rain; blizzards when coal and oil are lacking; psychological disturbances which produce lack of confidence. Almost anything can upset the best laid plans of men, of governments, of authors of learned dissertations.

One does not need to go to England to learn that truth. Here in this country, the commodity market goes sour; not distressingly sour, but bad enough to give the stock market and the politicians a fright. The smart boys had had it all worked out that they could sell all the balloons up high—wages, prices, farm prices, rents, taxes—everything that gives the appearance of good times—until at least, after Election Day. Then would come another day and another story.

Well, it is not working out that way. It is not clear at this moment how it is working. The Marx Plan, the budget, the tax bill, have to be studied again in view of the altered psychological attitude of the buying public. Buyers are waiting, for lower prices.

There are expenditures which are essential and pressing: food when one is hungry; heat when one is cold; clothes when one is in tatters. Such expenditures must be made whatever the price as long as one has something to pay. Black market, gray market, any market is the same when these essentials press hard.

There are other expenditures which are post-ponable. For instance, a trip to Miami may be very important and desirable, if the cash is available and the hope for the future high. But it is possible to live, even to be happy, without a trip to Miami. So the hoteliers and down there are becoming their fate and Hialeah isn't what it used to be.

The same is true about refrigerators, radios, washing machines, $30 neckties, automobiles, all sorts of things. They are all postponable; the psychological situation develops that way. For good times are as much psychology as economics—and so are people not so sure these days? Has the backlog in construction been filled? Have all the 1939 and 1940 cars been replaced by new cars? Have we filled all the orders for new machinery? No. We have enough backlog to produce a wonderful prosperity.

But there is a loss of confidence in government, in the Administration, in the personnel of Administration. There is a rising resentment at the confusion inside the Administration. The country is sound; the backlog of orders is sufficient to keep us going if wages and prices and taxes—would level at a reasonable point. But the country is weary of politicians who play winks and drags with foreign relations and the national economies, with prices and subsidies. There is no hope in that; therefore there is no confidence.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

CORONARY OCCLUSION

When we think of heart disease, coronary occlusion, we have in mind that the pain will be exactly in the heart region—that is, a little to the left of the breast bone and slightly below it. When we think of appendicitis, we think of the pain as being in the right lower part of the abdomen.

As a matter of fact, the pain in coronary occlusion starts under the breast bone and may extend over to the left shoulder and arm; and the pain in appendicitis starts right in the middle of the abdomen slightly above the navel and then later goes down to the lower right abdomen and "stays" there.

In pointing out the difference between the pain in coronary occlusion and coronary occlusion, Dr. Philip Thorak, Chicago, states that acute appendicitis is found most frequently in individuals under the age of 40 and is somewhat more common in males. The "Two Question" test is both useful and time saving. Question No. 1: "Where was your pain when it started?" To this question, the patient points to his whole abdomen. Question No. 2: "Where does it hurt you now?" He then points to the lower right part of the abdomen (appendix region).

This simple method of having the patient show where the pain started and where it is at present, will diagnose the vast majority of cases of acute appendicitis. Lack of appetite is a more important symptom in acute appendicitis than is either nausea or vomiting. Constipation is the rule.

Coronary occlusion, however, coronary (thrombosis) is usually found in those past 40, more often in men. The attack is sudden, with severe pain in the chest which extends to the left arm toward the abdomen or both shoulders. There is no tenderness of the skin. The patient is restless and thrashes about, and the veins in his neck stand out. He finds it difficult to breathe, and lips and face may be blue. The pain in coronary occlusion always remains under the breast bone, the patient feels as though his chest is in a vise. The pain may, but does not always, extend to the left arm.

If these points about acute appendicitis and coronary occlusion are kept in mind and carefully described to the physician, it will help him to diagnose the case correctly and the proper treatment will be given promptly.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I desire to supplement an important historical document, the life story of Babe Ruth, a great American, which has been written for printing and moving pictures by Bob Considine.

The Babe came to New York from the Boston Red Sox in 1919 in a deal that was part of a disguised case of syndicate baseball. Harry Frazee, a theatrical fellow who came from Peoria, had acquired title to the Boston Red Sox and was selling down to the rich and extravagant angels of the New York club a bunch of ivory on the hook, including Ruth, who were to win several pennants.

The rich and extravagant New York promoters, T. L. Huston and Jake Ruppert, had advanced Frazee a lot of money toward the purchase of the Boston team. He wrecked the Boston team, or more pleasantly put, he transferred the best of a great club to New York.

A little later, an ignorant hill-billy who was pitching well for the Giants got sore at McGraw and solicited a bribe to go fishing. This would have hampered the Giants seriously because he was more or less reliably good for several victories in the time he had covered by the fishing trip. He was banished from organized baseball in perpetual disgrace. I took mischievous pleasure in pointing the parallel between the illicit and the illicit, between the perjury of the alcoholic ignoramus and the distinguished sportsman who demolished the great Boston team and erected the great Yankees for sordid gain.

Ruth had hit an extraordinary number of home runs—19, as I recall—in the 1919 season. Would I be safe in saying that the previous record had been 12 by Cagney Cravath, of the Philadelphia Phillies?

In the early part of the 1920 season, perhaps about May, Fred Fergusson, then the manager of an affair called the United News, a news report known in the trade as the wine, women and song service, had one of his ideas. He left word all over town for Ruth to telephone him, but Ruth had never heard of him. Afraid that someone else in the same business might have the same idea, Mr. Fergusson observed that the Yankees were playing in Philadelphia, and went down to proposition him. He found the Babe and a half dozen Yankees on their knees in a room playing a game that is played with dice. The hotel was the Aldine, strangely infested with elderly ladies, and sedate enough for umpires. It had the first American-plan dining-room in any league. I never could understand why the Aldine took a ball-club on the American plan, at whatever price. Mr. Fergusson observed that the only way he could hope to get close to the Babe was to get into the crap game.

The United Press-Scripps-Macrae concern of which our wine, women and song service was a part, operated on a frugal budget, and gambling losses never were legitimate expenses. A refund of gambling gains incurred on assignment might have received the most careful and fair-minded consideration.

Mr. Fergusson went crazy and cleaned out the crap-game, and, with the prestige thus acquired, was able to impress the Babe with his importance and acumen. He made a contract assuring the Babe $1,000 for the season and $5 each for his home runs, and containing a reserve clause binding him to cover the World Series for us, in person.

Still further, Ruth was to authorize a weekly resume of the activities in both major leagues and an occasional prediction. And, by way of earning his $5 for each home run, he was to send us a wire after each game, telling us, in his own inimitable language, what the situation was at the time and what kind of ball it was.

He had hit about a dozen home runs without sending any such dispatches and I, as his spook, had imagined the situations and the types of pitches. But Mr. Fergusson got petulant, for he is a brawling fellow, wired the Babe demanding to know. And furthermore, he demanded a telegram after each home run henceforth.

Two days later, from Detroit, we got a wire late at night, long after the little Babe Ruth essay on the day's home run had cleared.

"Socked one today," it read. "Fast ball. High outside. Babe." The Babe's public was expanding and I was assigned to catch the Yankees in St. Louis, interview him exhaustively for his life story, and rush back to New York to put it into deathless prose. I waylaid him in the lobby every night and tried to mousetrap him. I wheedled with Ping Bodie, his roommate. But he never came home and just appeared at the Sunday morning he went to Mass and then played sandlot ball with a lot of kids until about noon. I then had 15 minutes with him and went back to New York where George Buchanan Fife, of the Evening World, and I produced 80,000 words, some of them very good, in four days, turn and turn-about. We got nothing extra, but I believe the Babe got $500.

The Dodgers and the Indians played the World Series and Mr. Fergusson asked Ruth whether he was going to show up to cover the games. He wasn't acting as though he intended to.

He wasn't. He had an offer of $1,000 to go barnstorming and he accepted Mr. Fergusson to sue him. So Sidney Whipple was assigned to go with him and the great essays on the strategy of the 1920 World Series by Babe Ruth were written from Perth Amboy, Camden, Scranton and such points and not at the voice for that.

I also had the honor of attending Mr. Ruth in his debut as a moving picture actor that year in a drama called "Headin' Home." The girl was a nice, buxom blonde whose name unfortunately I do not recall. The villain, who was the pitcher for the opposition, was a skinny little Broadway fellow named Scher who had done odd and ends as an actor. Ruth had brought some suits from a tailor named Scher and Scher said he would call the villain and who would use his brother in the show.

Mr. Scher, the actor, threw like an actor. Yet Ruth had to break his back striking out several times to make him look good and in the end he never got a chance to prove he could hit Mr. Scher because, for the great climax, they dubbed in one of his old homoruns photographed during the season as thousand cheered.

There were no sound tracks and the actors, for something to say as they moved their lips, would mutter over and over "business, business, business" or "so-and-so-and-so-and-so." This blonde lady had trouble not laughing at Mr. Ruth as he would grab her in a stiff-arm, self-conscious clinch and say, "oh, Miss Business, business, business. I think you are so-and-so-and-so-and-so."

Baltimore has not produced many great men. You may arrange the order as you like, but the list doesn't amount to more many than Cardinal Gibbons, Joe Garis, Babe Ruth and H. L. Mencken, the infidel.

"INSIDE THE DIPLOMATIC POUCH"

Your own private cause may be just a racket or a vendetta, but if you can make it look like the Secretary of State or the U. S. Government is behind it, you are sitting pretty.

How many times have our Communists or other left-wingers been able to use diplomatic channels as their mouthpieces, making foreign governments believe that Uncle Sam himself was speaking? Here's one instance. Pardon the "personal"—a man can speak with most evidence and authority when he is in the guinea pig.

The particular group in this instance was the so-called Friends of Democracy headed by "Reverend" Leon Birkhead. Associated with Birkhead in the deal was a Sunday evening radio commentator, Walter Winchell.

The international incident was an effort by this group, commonly called the Smear Bund, to use State Department influence to clamp a censorship on Mexican border radio stations. These stations, beamed to the United States, are the most powerful in the world, and operate under a strict international code drawn up in Havana some years ago.

As soon as I announced in December that I would begin broadcasting from these stations, along with some American stations, "Reverend" Birkhead lodged a protest with the State Department, and he and the Sunday evening key-hole commentator then began pressuring both the Mexican government and our State Department to prevent me and five other American anti-Communist radio outlets.

The New Deal commentator broadcast on the night of January 11, 1948, a statement obviously intended to intimidate the President of Mexico. He implied that the Mexican government would be sorry next time it came that in hand to Washington for money if it did not cut us off the Mexican stations.

On the following Sunday evening, Winchell announced that the "investigate" the anti-Communist speakers.

Last week we speakers objected to the Smear Bund's received official word from the Mexican Ministry of Communications, which supervises Mexican broadcasting, that it had listened to recordings of our broadcasts and had found them not only acceptable, but in fact commendable, and a help to the Mexican government in combating Communism.

A few hours after we received this official statement, however, we received word that the State Department had lodged an official protest with the Mexican government through our ambassador to Mexico, Walter Thurston, formerly of the U. S. Embassy at Moscow.

It looked as if the State Department was forcing Mexico to silence free speech over the radio. Efforts of senators, representatives and private investigators at first received only denials from the State Department that it had lodged any protest with the Mexican government.

Probing in Mexico City and Washington brought out, however, that the State Department had turned over its offices to the Smear Bund for the transmission of private protests—protests from "Reverend" Birkhead and associates—to the Mexican government!

Senator Arthur Capper's office was told the State Department that the American Embassy at Mexico City had taken the responsibility of doing the protesting, thus prostituting itself into a sub-agency for the libel-charged political poison-pen Smear Bund in the United States. And this over the head of its own State Department, which, however, should be questioned as to why it forwarded such smear stuff in a U. S. diplomatic pouch.

I tried to telephone Ambassador Thurston to insist that he make clear to the Mexican government that the protests were unofficial, that they came from Birkhead's group and that their transmission had been an abuse of the diplomatic channels. However, on learning that the call was from me, Ambassador Thurston refused to talk. Is a U. S. ambassador liable for abuse of his offices in depriving U. S. citizens of their constitutional and contractual rights?

The government of Mexico at first naturally took the protests as official. As this article is being written, however, the Mexican government has ordered the use of its own judgment as to the broadcasts under its jurisdiction.

I repeat the question with renewed interest: How many times have left-wing groups been able to make such use of government officials to further their political program? Why should the left Americans support a State Department that is a leftist agency?

Citizenship Conservation

Editor, The Freeman:

We Americans are living in a day of potential tragedy. Science has released agencies powerful enough to cause our civilization to fold up in a few hours.

Our hope is not in our military status, but in our character. Character finds its genius and stabilization in its conformity to principles, such principles as were enunciated and championed by men like those who came to these shores in the 17th century and who "felled the first trees of the virgin forest to build a sanctuary."

The memory of Winthrop, Cotton and Roger Williams—what purity, courage and strength they personified. The ideology of the word of God and the institution of the church are the guiding of the Christian civilization they pioneered.

The integration of nations into a world unit is possible only through that gospel which is "the power of God unto salvation," and the rallying center for the accomplishment of that integration is the church.

It took a Christian statesman like Paul with a vision of world conditions and a genius for solving world problems to see that nothing like a united nations organization could give us the integration we desire without the man of Galilee at the center. He tersely put it in those incomparable words: "We being many are one body in Christ." And this is the answer to the quest of conserving our American citizenry—a youth movement that motivates the surge of millions of young people toward the great gospel events of the church, where they may find vitalization for a career of world service, and where they will stand enthralled by the visage of Christ—the world saviour.

To conserve our American citizenry we must zealously watch against subtle forces that violate principles. We must continuously breed a citizenry of clean, virile, uncompromising youth who love the church, and who cherish the Sunday services of the church so passionately that no Saturday night lure like the glamorous dance of the public road house type where beer flows, and energy is dissipated, and where those who participate have rendered entirely unfit to function for God in His house on the Sabbath morning following. And how great a shame that the greatest cause in the world should suffer thus.

The crest of all beautiful institutions is the church of Christ. No loyal Christian priest will promote a Saturday night lure that thus rivals his church. This nation cannot stand without the influences that radiate from this center of truth and life.

THE REV. RICHARD B. COONS, Minister, Shokan Reformed Church.

What with the big rock cut at West Hurley practically completed and a deal of grading activity going on near the Maverick Inn, local residents are becoming increasingly cognizant of the fact that Shokan will soon be a suburb of Kingston.

Henry Gebbelein, a retired designing engineer, figures that he'll be driving to Kingston in about 12 minutes when the big state road job is finished. (Maybe, as in the old days, some of our sturdier citizens will ride Shank's Mare to the county seat.)

Samsonville Slim, who thinks he has a way with women, reveals a little of his technique: "To break the ice with a dame," says Slim, "tell her she is so different but don't go and break the spell by remarking that she is a 'little queer'."

Mrs. John Colwell, the former Mabel Bishop of Tongore, is making her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Reeves, in Honolulu. Mrs. Colwell and her late husband lived at New Paltz for many years. She is a sister of Mrs. Lester B. Davis of Tongore.

Not only is the ground unfrozen beneath the deep snow but the snow is slowly melting away at the bottom as result of the warmth emanating from the "good earth."

So say the farmers, who ought to know if anybody does.

The Long Dock, in case you don't know, was the island along the east Esopus creek road between Mt. Pleasant and Phoenix.

It was a center for the great bluestone industry of other days. Alva came to Olive at an early age, his home for several years being on the present George Pratt place which adjoins the Bulley homestead near Fouché Mountain. He is married to the former Kathryn Kellerhouse and

Fire Sweeps Building

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—Fire swept through all floors of a seven-story business building at 12 East 48th street shortly after 5 a. m. today. The fire, of undetermined origin, apparently started on the second floor in a tailor shop, officials said, and it spread upward and to a restaurant on the ground floor. Three alarms brought 16 pieces of fire apparatus and police emergency squads.

The flames lighted up the neighborhood. Firemen pronounced the blaze under control at 6:20 a. m. After considerable damage had been done.

If you are suffering the agony of Rheumatic-Arthritic pains listen to how Mrs. Leo Doerflinger of Dunkirk, N. Y. helped her rheumatic pain and her mother's. She says: "I had such pain in my legs and knees. I heard about Muscle-Rub and got a bottle. Now I feel like a new person. My mother, 77 years old, has Rheumatism in her fingers, shoulders and arms. The prize fish tale of the month is that the neighbors had canned salmon for lunch, and put a piece of canned salmon on the hook and caught the biggest pike taken out of the lake in years. They brought the fish to the dock to be weighed and it looked dead as a doornail. One of the fishermen had a rock-tail in his hand which tasted awful, so he poured it in the fish's mouth. The fish took three leaps right off the dock and that was the end of the prize catch.

KAA Plans Important Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Kingston Athletic Association Wednesday night at 8:30 at the club headquarters will be one of the most important of the year, Charles J. Tiano, president, said today.

The organization's Project Committee which was delegated the responsibility of setting up a $1,000 junior baseball program for 1948 will report at this meeting and a general discussion by the membership is desired.

Four interesting sports films also will be shown. In "Inside Football" outstanding grid pros like Sammy Baugh, Sid Luckman, Ken Strong, Mel Hein and Cliff Battles are featured.

The American-National League's most recent technical film "Pitching Stars of Baseball" will show Bob Feller, Ewell Blackwell, Harry Brecheen and others doing their stuff.

The American Bowling Congress is sending two instructional films "Tenpin Titans" and "Bowling Stars on Parade."

The K.A.A.'s Project Committee is headed by Clarence S. Rowland as chairman and includes Coaches G. Warren Kline, Willard Burke, Arthur Davis, Bernard "Bud" Culleton, Frank "Bing" Van Ert, Jimmy Callum, Tom Davitt, District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and Charles J. Tiano.

Tickets for the third annual K.A.A. "Hot Stove League" dinner on Wednesday, March 3, at the Barn went on sale over the week-end.

In The Pocket

with CHARLIE TIANO

Bagatelles:
As the ingenious phrase maker once coined it . . . we're battered from pillar to post by basketball . . . baseball . . . bowling . . . If we may have the floor by way of refreshing digression, let us take up the subject of the fabulous Tiger muskie, Queen Minnie Methuselah, the relentless challenger to New York State fishermen since 1931.

According to the New York State Conservation Commission, Minnie has survived another year. The story of Mighty Minnie came to light a year ago when a Department spokesman announced that the world's largest muskellunge probably was prowling the depths of 16-mile long Lake Chautauque.

Fabulous Minnie, all 18 inches of her, wearing Conservation Department identification tag 230, was released in Lake Chautauque 17 years ago. Tag 230 did not show up until Minnie became entangled in stripping nets in 1945, 15 years after she had fanned her way into the green depths of the Tiger muskie paradise.

Grows to More Than 60 Inches
The aging queen of the Tiger muskies—laying passively in the nets—had grown to staggering proportions—more than 60 inches in length and slightly above the world's record of 62 pounds, eight ounces credited to a take from Lake St. Clair, Michigan, in 1907. Hurrying attendants took proper measurements or to thoroughly weigh Minnie before stripping her of her eggs and dumping her back in the water.

But there is no doubt among enthusiasts in Jamestown that, when Tag 230 is hove to and gaffed into a boat, a new world record for muskellunge catches will be ready for the books. Men and women from every state in the Union annually have tried to ensnare Minnie from Lake Chautauque, but as yet nobody has come up with the secret. Maybe she's hibernating with Minnie the Moocher.

The basketball celebration at the last season of the sponsorship of the Major Leagues in the American Legion's Junior baseball program was discussed and plans for achieving a record entry of at least 15,000 teams in national competition this summer were on the agenda of the meeting of Legion representatives from 12 Eastern states yesterday in New York City. . . Junior baseball in the city will get a big boost this year what with the K.A.A., Kiwanis and Legion sponsoring programs.

Excellent results of handicap in K.B.A. tournament should boost entries for state tournament. . . One of the 7300 teams which will compete in next spring's ABC tourney in Detroit will set a record by touring the world.

Hymes Ace Blasts 221, 237 and 258

Frank "Tarzan" Spada, the guy with the "million dollar ball" had it, working with compound interest yesterday as he blasted a tremendous 716 triple for a new individual series record in the Hudson Valley Bowling League.

Rolling on his pet 15-16 drives at the Central Recs in the Hotel Ulster-Hynes Shoes match, Spada fashioned successive scores of 221, 237 and 258 to shatter the former high of 691 held by Dick Howard of Van Kleec's squad.

The brilliant series was marred by only two open frames—both misses on the 10-pin. It was Spada's 258 finisher that enabled Hymes to win the last game in the intra-feud. He fashioned 25 strikes in all.

The 700 was the first ever rolled by Spada in league competition, although he has accounted for several of them in open play.

Ulsters Take Lead
Ulsters grabbed the first two games of the bitterly contested match and moved into first place in the league for the first time this season as Ellenville Wayides waylaid Newburgh Shapros in three straight sets on the Ellenville drives.

There were four "600" triples in addition to Spada's 716 in the duel. Johnny Ferraro shot 213-209-648. "Hod" Spaulding 235-604, Charlie Tiano 212-222-615; and Charlie Manfro 204-210-604 for Hymes. In the "200" bracket were J. Schatzel 212; H. Brooks 208 and Lew Hymes 202.

Van Kleec's skidded further in the league standings by dropping three games in Port Jervis. J. Osowick shot 220-632 for the winners. Larry Petersen, Jr. led the Van's with 554 and Joe Schrowang compiled a triplicate 179-179-537.

The K'tanim Nursery and Kindergarten sponsored by the Jewish Community Center of 40 John street, has just marked its mid-term season. The school is a standard accredited experimental school with professionally trained and experienced staff and was opened last fall.

The classes are small and the emphasis is on personal adjustment, socialization, development of good habits, acquiring of skills in crafts, music, rhythms and physical development. There is a lot of play for outdoor and indoor supervised play. The school is open to all children of the community.

Equipment in the school is modern and as complete as possible. There is a car pickup service for the children. Three classes are organized: Two in the morning for 2½ year olds and a 3 to 4 year old unit of the Nursery School Division; and a 4 to 5½ unit in the afternoon for the kindergarten department. ### Traditional Service Sung at Dutch Church

An inspiring service of Negro spirituals was given Sunday afternoon at the First Dutch Reformed Church when the ministry of music of the church presented Miss Helen Phillips as guest soloist and the young people's and adult choirs. The service has grown to be a tradition at the church each year on the Sunday nearest to Lincoln's birthday.

Approximately 400 attended. More than 100 voices participated in the choirs and the singing was most sincere and fine for the varied moods of the songs. The youth choir sang with the soloist in the familiar "Go Down Moses" and the rhythmic "The Angels Have Changed My Name." The Adult Choir sang several selections including the beloved "Were You There?" arranged by Burleigh.

Miss Phillips, Negro soprano, sang two groups of spirituals and the selections were varied and sung with deep feeling and skill. The service closed with the joyous "O Rise and Shine," arranged by Kommer.

Mrs. Raymond Rignall, director of music, conducted the service and the soloist. She also played for the organ prelude, "Soon I'm Going Home," Lester; and for the offertory, "Largo" from "New World Symphony," by Dvorak. Miss Caroline Little was organist for the anthems.

Coterie Studies Auto Industry In Paper by Mrs. Alva Shelley

"The Auto Industry," was the topic of the paper given by Mrs. Alva Shelley at Coterie Saturday afternoon at the club met with Mrs. William Carter Cain, 85 Wurts street. She traced the development of the automobile and the manufacturing companies.

Mrs. Shelley pointed out that no one man invented the automobile but that it was the product of many. It originated in Europe when the Germans and Frenchmen worked with horseless carriages between 1885 and 1890. However Americans developed the methods of production.

In 1894 there were only four cars in the entire United States, 1896 the War Department at Washington said that three automobiles had been purchased for use by officers. She told of the increase in the use of cars throughout the country and of the manufacturers who were far-sighted enough to develop the auto industry.

She described Lansen Olds, first auto manufacturer, as an Horatio Alger hero, in his business life. Henry Ford often visited the Oldsmobile plant as a young person and later became the fabulous manufacturer of the Ford car. Mrs. Shelley also spoke of the rise of the General Motors Corp., under the direction of W. C. Durant and the building of the Buick car by David Dunbar Buick. In closing she spoke of some of the effects of the automobile on American life. She described the building of good roads as aiding in bringing people closer together. She also noted the change from the general store to the filling station in the country communities and said that the auto industry has revolutionized the entire retail merchandising system.

Mrs. Shelley will be hostess at the next meeting, February 23 when the paper, "Old Hugenot Street," written by Miss Mildred Simmons will be given.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

"WHAT FOR?"

A teen-ager asks me to print a disagreement with the "anti-quated possessiveness" of her mother. The latter refuses to let her ask a boy to come into the house to talk quietly for a while about the party they have been to—and not disturb anybody.

I have to answer that letting a boy come to talk quietly when your parents are no longer up is just about as wrong as can be! On the other hand, if several boys and girls come in together to forage in the icebox, with all the lights turned up and all making considerable chatter, this would be perfectly harmless, particularly if their visit is brief!

Bridal White at Civil Ceremony

Dear Mrs. Post: At a civil marriage ceremony at home, may the bride wear a white bridal dress and veil (both on the simple side of course)? She never has been married. At a civil ceremony, how many attendants may she have? How many may the bridegroom have?

Answer: Certainly the bride may wear bridal dress. One attendant is proper—a maid of honor for her and a best man for him.

Restaurant Manners

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to push one's chair under the table leaving a restaurant table? Or does one leave it stand just where it is?

Answer: Usually a waiter pulls it out when he sees you are going to rise and then puts it in place as you leave. But if there is no one there to help you, you naturally would push it out of the way of other people who otherwise might run into it.

Introducing Arriving Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: When arriving guests must walk through the living room to leave their wraps in the bedroom, is it proper to introduce them to the few guests seated in the living room, before or after removing their wraps?

Answer: Preferably you let them take off their wraps before introducing them to those present. If they come face to face, you would introduce them briefly. As a matter of fact, those who arrive first would avoid looking so closely at the new arrivals as to make their passing by awkward.

Would you know how to choose the new baby's godparents?

Should the godparents be present at the christening? Mrs. Post's leaflet, E-36, "The New Baby," explains the procedure of the ceremony. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her, in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. ## ALL MY LIFE

When childhood sang its lovely song
I dreamed of days beyond my know
And as the seasons slipped away
I thought my dreams were coming true.
I searched the skies and rainbow trails
And when school no longer beckoned me...
I dreamed of days beyond my know
And as the seasons slipped away
I thought my dreams were coming true.
Time found me rushing here and there
And when the seasons slipped away
I thought my dreams were coming true.
The dancing years have scattered youth
And when the seasons slipped away
I thought my dreams were coming true.
My heart has learned a fitting tune
And when the seasons slipped away
I thought my dreams were coming true.
I've looked in vain for... all my life.

Child, 11, Dies When Lawn Suddenly Sags

Riverside, N. J., Feb. 16 (AP)—Eleven-year-old Dorothy Kennedy said to her death as the ground of a lawn adjoining her home gave way beneath her.

Her eight-year-old brother, Joseph, stood by helplessly yesterday as Dorothy struggled and scrambled for help. Dirt, ice and slush piled on top of the girl as she disappeared from sight.

Her body was dug from a hidden well by a fire rescue squad two hours later. Police said apparently recent rains and snows weakened the well covering of leaves that has accumulated through the years.

have to be arranged by "a neutral delegate."

Bristow, 28, is from Santa Barbara, Calif.

Meeting Scheduled
Adm. Charles M. Cooke, Jr., Commander of U. S. naval forces in the western Pacific, and U. S. Ambassador John Leighton Stuart are scheduled to meet in Nanking within 24 hours to discuss the next step. Cooke presumably will acquaint the ambassador with Bristow's story, and will report any contact with the Reds may have attached to the marines' return.

Departure Delayed
Bad weather which grounded planes throughout China prevented Stuart's departure from Shanghai and Cooke's from Tsingtao today, but they will attempt to reach Nanking tomorrow.

Bristow, the Shanghai informant said, arranged through villagers near Tsingtao to make his beachhead with the Reds. Tsingtao is a small harbor 30 miles northeast of Tsingtao and about 10 miles east of Lianyung, where five marines were captured Christmas Day.

A Communist radio broadcast Friday said one of the five, Pfc. Charles J. Brayton, Jr., of Georgetown, La. N. Y., was fatally wounded. The four captives are Cpl. William L. Pollard, Fort Worth; Pfc. Carroll W. Dickerson, Olathe, Kas.; Pvt. Robert Hart, Pittsburgh; and Pfc. Thomas Kapodistria, Buffalo, N. Y.

Meantime, talk of evacuating Americans from Tsingtao was revived, but responsible sources scoffed.

General's Farewell

escapably requires the availability of effective land forces; without them, we will have no bases and can seize none speedily. We would be wide open to attack and helpless to do anything positive about it.

Eisenhower said that on any future day of emergency, and mobilization this country would need a ground army of 1,300,000 men. But to maintain a regular army of this size would be "prohibitively expensive," he said. Thus the "only feasible solution is to build the National Guard and organized reserves," he required strength.

"What we are able or not able to do within 60 days of another war will be decided by its determination of our ability to carry the war to a successful conclusion."

A day before Eisenhower's report was released, Secretary of Defense Forrestal announced creation of a civilian defense study unit.

Its job will be to suggest plans for protecting the people, cities and industrial plants of the country against the destruction from atomic bombs and germ warfare. Among other things, the new organization will require specialists who can identify radioactivity and bacteria before they kill people.

Eisenhower, planning for adequate defense planning, asserted: "Scarcely any form of attack can be written off as obsolete or no longer in conception as to remain forever impossible."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—The direction was upward in today's stock market although little buying urgency appeared.

Dealings slowed at intervals after the opening. Selected rails and industrials added a point or more after considerable early hesitancy. Top marks were shaded here and there near the fourth hour.

Professionals again covered short accounts on the idea the list was oversold and due for a technical revival. Stiffening of recently slumping commodities was a bolstering factor. Numerous skeptics regarding business and foreign situations held aloof or trimmed commitments.

Better performers included Santa Fe, Rock Island, Southern Pacific, Great Northern Railway, Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Five Ellenville school teachers who were en route to New York city, where they were taking extension courses at Columbia University, escaped injury Saturday morning when the car in which they were riding was struck by a truck shortly after they had left home.

Wynon Hoteling, owner and operator of the car, with Vincent P. Gillen, John C. Braun, Miss Ida Besbesky, all of the Ellenville High School faculty, and Miss Krutenat of the grade school faculty, left Ellenville about 5:30 o'clock. The roads were very icy and when they reached a point near the village the car was struck by a truck. Although the car was badly damaged the occupants were not injured when their car was sidwiped. They were unable to continue their journey.

Poughkeepsie Youth Uninjured in Crash

Edward Hanley, 16, of Poughkeepsie escaped uninjured, according to the state police, when an auto which he was driving, owned by John Wheeler of Millerton overturned on Route 299 about two and half miles west of Highland early this morning.

State Trooper D. A. Dakin, of the Highland state police station, who investigated, said the driver reported that the car struck an oil can in the road. He was arrested for operating the car without a license and was scheduled for arraignment today before Justice Albert Lester of the Town of Lloyd.

Deputy Sheriff Fred Bragg of Highland, assisted in the investigation.

Firemen Are Called

Firemen were called at 12:05 a. m. Sunday to 574 Broadway, where they found smoke on the first and second floor caused by an oil burner out of adjustment. The burner was turned off and an oil burner representative was called to adjust the burner. The building is a three-story brick building occupied on the first floor by the Badlan Reliable Sports-wear Manufacturing Company and on the second floor by the Moose lodge.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 16 (AP)—The direction was upward in today's stock market although little buying urgency appeared.

Dealings slowed at intervals after the opening. Selected rails and industrials added a point or more after considerable early hesitancy. Top marks were shaded here and there near the fourth hour.

Professionals again covered short accounts on the idea the list was oversold and due for a technical revival. Stiffening of recently slumping commodities was a bolstering factor. Numerous skeptics regarding business and foreign situations held aloof or trimmed commitments.

Better performers included Santa Fe, Rock Island, Southern Pacific, Great Northern Railway, Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Youngstown Sheet, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, American Smelting, DuPont, Occidental Petroleum, American Tobacco, B. S. Standard Oil (N. J.), Texas Co. and Gulf Oil.

Bonds improved, with assorted railway loans favored.

Peron Says Nation No Ally Either of United States, Reds

Buenos Aires, Feb. 16 (AP)—The Government Press Office has released a speech by President Juan D. Peron, in which he says that Argentina is an ally of neither the United States nor Russia.

In the address, which Peron delivered to the Argentine Congress Feb. 5, the president said:

"Argentina occupies a third position and is not allied with either Russia or the United States."

In an appeal for national unity, Peron said:

"If war comes as a result of the two great ideological tendencies which agitate the world, we are not going to escape from the situation."

"If we are found dispersed and divided, they won't even have the work of conquering us because we would be already conquered. On the other hand, if they find the people united in thinking first of the defense of the country, then we will be difficult to conquer and we can defend ourselves."

Pie-Face Bandit Sought

Detroit, Feb. 16 (AP)—Police are looking for a pie-faced bandit. The man tried to snatch Mrs. Charlotte Clear's purse from under her left arm Sunday as she walked along a street. Mrs. Clear, wearing a red hat, was carrying a pie. "Whoop," gasped the bandit, and ran.

Engel Criticizes Army Plans to Buy Chairs

Washington, Feb. 16 (AP)—Rep. Engel (R-Mich.) criticized today army plans to buy 161,172 custom built chairs for officers.

Had he not protested, Engel said in a speech prepared for his colleagues, the army would have paid an average of $26 each for the chairs, instead of $9.45. That, he added, would have been "throwing away" $2,567,000.

Engel is chairman of an appropriations subcommittee considering the army's budget. He has made several critical speeches since congress reconvened. Some colleagues are interpreting them as hinting a big cut in army funds for next year.

As noted by Engel, this is the story of the chairs:

Bids were asked last spring on specifications "so complicated" they covered four typewritten pages.

The bids ranged from $20 to $33.

Roberts Is Hurt In Ellenville Gym; Strikes His Neck

Ronald Roberts, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roberts of Chapel street, Ellenville, suffered serious, back injuries last Thursday in an accident at the Ellenville high school gymnasium. He is confined to the Veterans Memorial Hospital under care of Dr. Orin M. Roberts.

During a gym class Thursday morning, young Roberts, who is considered one of the finest young athletes in the village, was participating in exercises with other junior high school students. Roberts was endeavoring to make a leap from the springboard when something went wrong. It is believed he was not going to make a somersault and endeavored to land on his feet. In executing the maneuver he struck the mat low down on his neck, severely injuring his back.

Taken to Veterans Memorial Hospital he was placed under the care of Dr. Roberts, who found that the injury appeared to be near the center part of the back where the vertebrae had been injured or dislocated. It was stated today that the cushions between the vertebrae appeared to have been injured.

The injury appears to be of a serious nature and the boy will be laid up for some time.

The lad's father, Arthur Roberts, is an electrician at the Napanocho Institution, and is not related to Dr. Orin M. Roberts or the coach at the Ellenville High School, who is Alfred Roberts.

Politicians Would Know How Pennsylvania Will Figure

(By The Associated Press)

Politicians kept a sharp eye on Pennsylvania today. They want to know what a split among Republican leaders there over the Marshall Plan may mean at the G.O.P. National Convention in June.

In other political developments over the week-end: Senator Taft (R-Ohio) headed back to Washington, "extremely encouraged" by his six-state hunt for convention support.

Henry A. Wallace said the Democratic high tide has seemed to "death" over his third party presidential candidacy. The former vice president told a labor rally in New York yesterday that is what he thinks is behind Mayor William O'Dwyer's recent suggestion that Wallace return to the Democratic fold.

Chairman Carroll Reece of the Republican National Committee, said a two-party system would help the South prevent "infringements upon civil liberties."

The Georgia Democrats postponed their Jackson Day dinner from March 5 to March 9. They thereby raised a new question whether National Chairman J. Howard McGrath would speak as scheduled.

The Pennsylvania Republican split developed when Gov. James H. Duff called for all-out support for the European Recovery program which bears the name of Secretary of State Marshall.

Senator Edward Martin, the state's favorite son candidate for the presidential nomination, had said in Chicago earlier last week that the "Marshall Plan in its present form is not the answer." Martin accused the State Department of "deal, doubledeals and double-cross deals."

Quadruplets Seem To Be Doing Well On Their 2nd Day

Latrobe, Pa., Feb. 16 (AP)—The Zavada quadruplets—three girls and a boy whose coming was forecast by x-ray last November—entered their second day of life today, apparently "doing just fine."

The babies, not expected until April, were delivered by caesarean section yesterday to Mrs. Barbara Wagner Zavada, 26-year-old wife of a metal works inspector.

The four infants, weighing a total of 13½ pounds, were born within five minutes while their father, Andrew, 35, mopped his brow in the waiting room of the Latrobe General Hospital.

Dr. J. Wiley Hartman, chief obstetrician, who attended Mrs. Zavada aided by four other doctors, said the boy was delivered first, just 15 minutes after Mrs. Zavada had been wheeled into the operating room.

A half hour after the babies' birth, Father Theodore Hodoaby of St. Mary's Greek Catholic Church came to the hospital to christen the children John Michael, Bernadette Elizabeth, Barbara Rose and Anna Mary.

The only disappointed person in Latrobe today apparently was five-year-old Larry Dale M-Brer, Mrs. Zavada's son by a previous marriage, who had expected his mother to bring him two brothers and two sisters.

Mrs. Zavada's first husband, Harold McBryer, was killed in the Normandy invasion in 1944. She married Zavada in August, 1946.

Complaint Is Received

A complaint that a man was shooting a rifle between Andrew street and Mary's avenue was received at police headquarters at 9:10 a. m. Saturday. Two radio cars were sent to check the area, but reported the man had disappeared.

including the proposed medical units, could be established either by taking over and expanding existing facilities or by construction of new buildings.

Although emphasizing a system of "widely distributed and greatly expanded facilities," the commission left the way open for establishment of a central-campus university unit as proposed recently by Dewey administration leaders serving on the body.

The report said:

"It may prove advisable to include within the university an institution located on a single campus and comprising within itself a program of undergraduate, graduate and professional work."

Dewey's state budget director, John E. Burton, a commission member, proposed in December that the state take over an existing university, "preferably Syracuse University."

The commission report added:

"The operating units of the state university should embrace the present state teachers colleges, technical institutes, the maritime academy and colleges operated for the state under contract; and in addition such public four-year colleges, community colleges, and graduate and professional schools as may be established, including a single-campus university if that should prove desirable."

Up to Board of Trustees

Decision on a single-campus unit would be left to the board of trustees.

The commission said it was concerned with the needs of higher education for the next two or three decades and added that the program's long-range nature made it "particularly difficult" to estimate the cost "at any given time."

"Some of the items in the program," the report said, eventually would push the state's annual operating expenditures for higher education from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Plant investments, including recent allocations for projects amounting to $70,000,000, the report added, compared to an eventual $200,000,000 under the recommended program.

The commission recommended no specific number of community colleges.

Most of the university system recommendations conformed to recommendations covered briefly in a preliminary statement issued by the commission early in January. There had been no indications on its findings concerning racial discrimination.

The report said a "substantial number of youths are deterred from attending college by lack of resources with which to pay tuition or living expenses," and added:

"In addition, some members of New York's large minority groups have had difficulty in securing access to educational facilities on an equal basis with other students. This is true not only on the college level but on the professional and graduate school levels as well."

"This discrimination is repellent to the free-born spirit and must be eliminated."

The commission recommended that public financial assistance be granted only to institutions admitting students and providing facilities "on the basis of individual merit and without regard to race, color, creed or national origin."

Preferential selection by religious or denominational institutions of students of "their own creed shall not be considered an act of discrimination," the commission declared.

Authority Is Urged

The report urged authority for the state education commissioner to investigate discrimination and to seek—privately—to eliminate the condition by "conference, conciliation and persuasion."

Upon his inability to correct a situation, the commission suggested, the Board of Regents should

Marine League Plans To Organize Auxiliary

Preliminary plans to organize a Ladies' Auxiliary to the Uster Detachment, Marine Corps League will be made tonight during a meeting at the American Legion Building, West O'Reilly street, at 8 o'clock.

Commandant Harold E. Maccholdt, in announcing the meeting, said that all wives, sisters, daughters and widows of marines now in service or those who have served in the United States Marine Corps, are eligible for membership in the Auxiliary.

"There's quite a bit of interest in forming an auxiliary," Commandant Maccholdt said today, "and we hope for a large turnout of eligible members tonight so that concrete plans for the organization may be formulated."

Dr. Hocker, Famed Cancer Specialist, Dies in New York

Had Tentatively Accepted Offer to Direct Ulster Clinic When Built

Dr. Alfred Franklin Hocker, 45, widely known cancer specialist, who had tentatively accepted an offer to become clinic director at the proposed Ulster County Tumor Clinic, died at his home, 14 East 90th street, New York, Thursday.

The death of Dr. Hocker, who was cancer specialists and assistant attending surgeon of the head and neck service at Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases, 444 East 68th street, New York, was called today by Dr. J. Spittswood Taylor, director of the Kingston City Laboratory, as "a terrible blow" to all of us connected with the proposed clinic.

Treated City Patients

Besides being connected with the tumor clinic plans, Dr. Hocker is also widely known throughout Kingston, since he had treated many local patients both in New York and at the tumor clinic at Cornwall Hospital.

In announcing Dr. Hocker's connection with the local clinic today, Dr. Taylor said "his death is a terrible blow. He had agreed to take the clinic over for us and get it started on the night road. We all mourn his death greatly."

Dr. Hocker, who was born in Audubon, Ia., attended the University of Oklahoma and was graduated from the University of Louisville Medical School, Louisville, in 1926. He practiced at the Louisville City Hospital after an internship and later joined the New York hospital staff as an assistant resident surgeon in 1930.

He established the tumor clinic at Cornwall Hospital in 1936 which followed techniques at the New York hospital and it became a model for small hospitals in the country.

He was a member of the cancer research (established by the Memorial Hospital and the Massachusetts General Hospital of Boston in 1947 and was credited with a leading role in the development of a thyroid cancer treatment using radioactive iodine.

Funeral services for Dr. Hocker were held Saturday at 2 p. m., from the St. James Church, Madison avenue and 71st street, New York.

Russian Puppet Setup Established In Northern Korea

Army, Flag, Constitution Are Working; Said to Violate Pact of Nations

Seoul, Feb. 16 (AP)—A high American official said today a Russian puppet government has been established in North Korea. He declared it has an army, a flag and a constitution in open defiance of international agreements.

The official charged that establishment of the government was timed to coincide with the United Nations commission's recent announcement of failure of its mission to Korea.

He made his charges to a news conference, but asked that he not be named.

Russian occupation officials are charged with governing North Korea. American administer South Korea.

The U. N. Commission was refused entry into the Russian zone to plan nationwide elections preliminary to giving Korea self government. Chairman K.P.S. Menon is to report the commission's failure to the Assembly next week.

The American source said "we have ample information" that an army estimated at 200,000 North Koreans is equipped with Russian materials, medium tanks and light planes.

Unilateral Acts Suspected

He expressed belief the Russians were planning to act unilaterally in North Korea, regardless of any U. N. decision. He added that formation of the puppet government had revived speculation among U. S. military officials that the Russians may suddenly withdraw their occupation troops. He said such a move would be an effort to force similar withdrawal of American troops from the southern zone.

A radio broadcast from Pyongyang, Soviet occupation headquarters, announced creation of the "North Korean Peoples Army" and a constitution which would "establish the Democratic Peoples Republic of Korea."

The broadcast, by Chairman Kim Il of the North Korean Peoples Committee, said the army was not for purposes of staging civil war "as certain reactionaries maliciously publicize." The army, he went on, will "move to check in advance any attempts on the part of reactionaries to divide and kill the people."

Referendum or Discussion

A draft of the constitution, he said, was introduced at the fourth plenary session of the North Korean Peoples Council. It was "referred to the people for discussion" and will be voted upon at a special council session in mid-March, he added.

The North Korean flag was described as having a red star in the center, with crossed hammers above and crossed sickles below.

The broadcast was monitored by the U. S. Army.

Such actions, said the American source, also are in violation of the Moscow agreement on Korea. He said the Russians caused the United States-Soviet joint commission to fail by refusing to consult the large Rightist segment of the population.

Cowboy, 4, Will Get His Final Request

Seattle, Feb. 16 (AP)—A blonde four-year-old cowboy will be buried Tuesday as he wanted—with his boots on.

For three months 20 doctors tried to save the life of the youngster, Lowell Lynn Elkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Elkins of Seattle. His illness was diagnosed as leukemia.

Last Friday the tiny lad, who loved horses and the outdoors, died.

His desire to be a cowboy grew during his brief life on his parents' stock ranch at Wilson Creek, Wash. On every possible occasion he wore his black suede chaps and vest, black and white boots, miniature six-shooter, green-plaid shirt and studded belt.

Lowell's last wish was that he be buried wearing his beloved cowboy suit.

and more. It suggested including federal workers as well as members of the armed forces and railroad workers.

In a statement telling why his plan would cost less eventually, Kean said the government spends millions of dollars matching state funds for direct aid to elderly people outside the insurance program.

"If the system is broadened as provided by my bill," the New Jersey Republican said, "the federal government could gradually withdraw its contribution to old age assistance as citizens build up sizeable (Social Security) credits."

This would result in a substantial saving to the federal government at some future time.

Both Kean and the Social Security Administration suggested boosting the lowest monthly retirement payment from $10 to $20. The minimum is set for persons who have built up small insurance credits because of limited time spent in covered employment.

The administration also proposed a jump in the maximum—from $85 to $120 a month. To offset this, the Social Security tax would apply to the first $4,800 of annual earnings instead of the present $3,000.
